Land Base

The Tribe is currently in litigation to establish and secure their land base. In March 2000 the tribe signed a settlement treaty with the Navajo Nation giving them approximately 5,400 acres of land. About 5,100 acres are located in the Hidden Springs area of Arizona, which is about 10 miles north of Tuba City. In Utah, the tribe now owns 300 acres in the Paiute Farms area, south of Lake Powell. The settlement required Congressional approval.

The San Juan Southern Paiute do not have an active environmental program funded by EPA.
